

Privacy

Online collection of personal data is not a business objective of EPEGON FOUNDATION as such. EPEGON FOUNDATION does not collect personal data through its website for direct marketing purposes and we will not communicate your personal data to any third party. In exceptional circumstances, when EPEGON FOUNDATION may have to disclose personal data, we undertake to mention this explicitly and not distribute personal data without the user's explicit consent.

EPEGON FOUNDATION can use personal data for its own use.

Contacts that give rise to providing chargeable services or legally required services are recorded in the relevant customer list.

Personal data collected through contact forms are not archived in databases, but immediately forwarded by e-mail to the mailbox associated with the topic to which the form relates. Your request is consequently passed on to the person responsible for the requested service or information. Personal data communicated through a contact form will be treated with the same care as personal data communicated through traditional correspondence, fax or phone.

EPEGON FOUNDATION website contains links to external websites. EPEGON FOUNDATION accepts no responsibility for the privacy policies of those sites.

As an EPEGON FOUNDATION customer, you have the right to access your personal data - free of charge and at any given time - and to have them removed or updated, subject to legal requirements on the timeframe for retaining records of specific documents or data.

Our webmaster is responsible for the processing of personal data collected on our website. You can contact the webmaster by email to gain access and/or update your personal data.

For additional and independent information on privacy legislation, visit:
http://mineco.fgov.be/information\_society/home\_en.htm